NOTICE REGARDING COMMUNICATIONS WITH THE COURT

The 13th District Court is prohibited from providing legal opinions or advice to litigants, office holders, or employees. And while many choose to represent themselves in court proceedings or choose not to contact an attorney, the 13th District Court cannot and will not assist litigants, office holders, and employees with how to proceed on their cases including but not limited to pleadings, testimony, drafting of orders, how an order is to be enforced, how a law is to be interpreted, or how to conduct business in an office that is not the Court.

Furthermore, do not contact the 13th District Court in an attempt to ex parte the Court on a matter except those proceedings authorized by law. The Court will take appropriate action if and when this occurs. Any communications with the Court shall occur in the courtroom with all parties present. And while the Court maintains an open office that is open to the public, any litigant, attorney, office holder, or employee sent to its office for legal advice will be turned away unless all litigants and attorneys are present.

And finally, anyone suspected of giving legal advice to a litigant who is not authorized to practice law in the State of Texas shall be reported to the proper authorities for investigation.

It is ordered on the 22nd day of November 2024 that this notice be placed on the Court's website and other locations outside of the 13th District Courtroom.
